

CIS 251: C++ Programming

This course is an introduction to the C++ programming language including object oriented programming. Topics include: problem solving and design; control structures; objects and events; user interface construction; and document and program testing. This course is offered only in the spring semester.

Credits: 3

Lab Hours: 0

Lecture Hours: 3

Program: Computer Information Systems Technology

Semester Offered: Spring